SBL Mobile Deployment

SBL have a significant level of expertise surrounding all elements of mobile working, the demand for it and the benefits that it can bring an organisation, in terms of cost savings and process efficiencies. However, we also understand and recognise the challenges that exploiting this technology can cause fororganisations. Consequently, SBL have invested heavily in the provision of hosted mobility services and associated support for cloud systems. SBL have supported a number of hosted MDM solutions, in addition to supporting those hosted by other organisations.

SBL provide comprehensive support for all organisations at all stages of their exploration of mobile working including, but not limited to: secure access, network architecture, hosted/managed security (e.g. firewalls, web filters, email filters), identity access management, SIEM, log management and file sharing.

Consequently, SBL can provide support at all stages of a mobility journey; from inception and programme design to deployment and provision of a fully managed and hosted service. Hosted services can be provided in SBL's secure PSN connected datacentre, or on RLi or SLi networks. SBL's in house technical and professional services teams can provide support across all technologies, environments and use cases. Furthermore, they can provide support to organisations wishing to migrate from an on-premises solution to a hosted or managed service.
