NETWORK SECURITY SERVICE

WHAT IS IT?

Cybercrime is at an all-time high, with new threats being identified every day. Keeping your business secure is a multi-faceted task, but your first line of defence should always be a firewall.

Net Consulting's Network Security Service is designed to identify and remediate security issues associated with your firewall devices and demystify your current solution, allowing you to maximise your security investment. Net Consulting will review your firewall configuration, recommend areas of improvement and, if required, implement changes, offering you the highest level of protection from cyber threats.

WHY DO YOU NEED IT?

Firewalls are the first line of security, protecting you from the dangers of the modern Internet. All businesses rely on firewalls to protect their networks, so it's essential that they're set up and continue to work properly. Net Consulting's Network Security Service ensures that your firewall is performing as it should throughout the entirety of its life, providing the best level of protection for your digital assets.
