What is Contomic?

Built from the ground up as a content management platform and content repository with an easy-to-use authoring interface for content teams. Contomic is an API first content management platform that makes content accessible via a RESTful API.

Contomic simplifies and streamlines the management and delivery of content across all digital platforms - allowing you to create, review, approve and reuse content based on your users' needs all within an intuitive platform.

Why Contomic?

All too often content comes in as a secondary consideration, however we believe content is the core that services should be built on.

Our approach is simple:

- Design content based on your users' needs.
- Deliver the content through a scalable service that consumes and renders the content through a well considered user experience.
